DUNN BUILDING COMPANY OPENS SECOND SATELLITE OFFICE TO SERVICE THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AREA

Dunn Building Company has opened its second satellite office in Athens, Alabama to service the Tennessee Valley. "Dunn has always had great customers in the Tennessee Valley, and now we can service them faster and more cost effectively. It's also a win for our employees and their families in the Tennessee Valley who can perform more work closer to home", said Andrew E. Edwards, President of Dunn Building Company.

Dunn hired Jason Hennessee, a native of Athens, Alabama, to lead their Tennessee Valley Area Office. Hennessee started his career as a Project Manager for the Huntsville Madison County Airport Authority and comes to Dunn with over 14 years of construction experience. Hennessee has a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Alabama Huntsville and an M.E. in Construction & Engineering from the University of Alabama Birmingham.

Dunn Building Company is a leading provider of concrete work, steel buildings, and turn-key industrial building across the southeast. The company is headquartered in Birmingham and also operates a satellite office in Saraland, Alabama that services the Gulf Coast Area.
